

Voke School Budget Again Under Fire

Andover Finance Committee is again concerned about the regional vocational school budget and has asked the Greater Lawrence Voke School board to review its budget with an eye toward reduction.

A year ago the Andover FinCom protested the budget and were inclined toward reducing the Andover assessment on the floor of town meeting. Atty. John C. Doherty, then FinCom chairman, declined to move for the reduction after presenting the reasoning, primarily no overseeing authority to the regional board on finance matters.

FinCom members meeting this week on the voke school budget accepted the reduction of $50,000 on the initial financial needs presentation, but felt strongly that additional cuts can be made.

Mrs. Virginia Cole, FinCom secretary reported that the Andover board had found that there is $100,000 account for contingencies, which her committee feels could well be reduced.

Also there is a $20,000 account

Former Manager Candidate

With the filing of nomination papers today, Richard J. Bowen of 12 Bannister Road, Andover, announces his candidacy for Selectman in the upcoming March Town election. There are two vacancies on the Board whose members serve three-year terms.

Bowen has resided in Andover since 1964 when he was appointed by the Board of Selectmen to serve a five-year term as Town Manager completing his tenure in 1969. He brings with his candidacy more than twenty years of experience in public administration including some fifteen years as a municipal administrator in five communities in Maine, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New Hampshire and New York in addition to his service in Andover. He most recently completed a two-year commitment to the financially distressed City of Long Beach, New York, a Long Island community of some 34,000 people with a previous history of fiscal management preceding but paralleling that of the City of New York.

Bowen is a 1951 graduate of Colby College, Maine, and also holds a Master of Governmental Administration degree awarded in 1954 by the Wharton School of Finance and Commerce, University of Pennsylvania.

His wife Lucy is a Registered Nurse on the Cardiac Care Unit staff of the Bon Secours Hospital. Three of their six children are graduates of the Andover public school system while three continue as students at Andover High School and Andover West Junior High School.

In announcing his candidacy, Bowen said: "Andover has been an important part of my life (and the lives of my family) for some twelve years. During this time, I have tried to demonstrate my concern over its life actively and constructively as an appointed official and employee, as an active participant in Town Meeting, as a citizen-volunteer and quite simply as a private citizen."

"I seek the elective office of

Teachers - Town Reach Accord

It will be business more or less as it should have been last September, when Andover teachers return from vacation next Monday to the beginnings of a contract settlement.

While the teachers will have the final say in a membership vote to be taken within the next week or two, Andover Education Association leaders came to terms with the school committee late Friday night, on the eve of their February break.

Forced back to the bargaining table by order of the state Labor Relations Board, the two sides agreed to a 6.25 percent pay hike this year, and a 7.75 percent next year.

The school committee's previous high offer had been 6.25 and 7.5 percent, while the teachers had voted to accept the factfinder's recommendation of 7.5 percent both years. The committee had originally offered 6 and 6 percent, while the teachers had sought 12 and 12 percent.

The labor board was called into the dispute last week, after the teachers had set a strike vote for last Wednesday night, and after they had instituted a "work stoppage", teaching only to review.

The AEA voted to postpone a strike vote for 15 days -- until next Thursday -- and the labor board went ahead with its hearing Thursday morning.

It found the teachers in violation of the law for their work stoppages, and ordered them to cease the stoppages and their strike threat. It also ordered the teachers and committee to resume negotiations within 72 hours.

Friday night, they came to agreement.

The settlement will cost the town some $325,000 in raises for the current year, beyond the $5 million the teachers are already receiving.

The settlement means an additional $860,000 for next year's budget, including the 7.75 percent across the board and the regular step and track increases.

Committeeman David R. Ahouse, who has been negotiating with the teachers, said this week that according to current projections, the committee probably did plug in enough money in next year's budget to cover the hikes. However, he said, it may be very tight.

Ahouse added that he didn't feel either side had won in the current negotiations. The school committee, he said, had to push its budgetary limits farther than they wanted.

On the other hand, he said he felt the teachers had lost a fair amount of respect from the community as a result of their work stoppage.

Negotiations for the two-year contract began more than 18 months ago, and salary and "just cause" for dismissal and demotion have been the primary snags. When the new school year began without a contract, the teachers began adhering only to the "letter" of last year's contract, reporting only 15 minutes before school and 30 minutes after.

Many of the "extras" provided by the teachers in former years have been missing.

The teachers also took their cause to the public, picketing in front of their schools in the mornings, and holding rallies and coffees and leafleting the town.

Injunction Sought To Bar Closed Meetings

A hearing is scheduled in Probate Court, Salem this morning on a preliminary injunction to prohibit the Andover Board of Selectmen from holding closed meetings.

The hearing follows the issuing of a temporary restraining order last Thursday by Judge Albert P. Pettoruto which prohibited the selectmen from holding closed meetings and was sought by the Andover Townsman and Lawrence Eagle-Tribune newspapers.

The action followed the announced intent of the board to hold closed meetings, or "work sessions", to discuss the budget.

Also, the board unanimously approved a resolution at its Jan. 26 meeting, in which they announced their intent to meet in closed session in defiance of the new Massachusetts Open Meeting law when it was deemed necessary. Such occasions cited in the resolution are negotiations, evaluation of the manager, or intense personality conflict.

At its meeting on Feb. 9, the four members of the board agreed that "work sessions" on the budget would be closed to the public.

The selectmen have not commented on the court action and according to Selectman Alan F. French, due to the case pending before the court, counsel had advised against making any comments.

The suit was filed last Thursday by Atty. Clifford Elias and Michael W. Morris, representing the Eagle-Tribune Publishing Co. and the Andover Publishing Co.

Town Counsel Alfred Daniels will represent the selectmen at the hearing this morning.

Commenting on the reasons for the suit, TOWNSMAN Managing Editor Robert E. Finneran said: "We are trying to accelerate the Selectmen's desires to conform to the law. In an era when the actions of public officials well can be Robert P. Najjar, 8 Regis Road, Andover, has announced his candidacy for a seat on the school committee.

Najjar is Bursar of Northeastern University, a position he has held for the past seven years. His expertise in the field of education is based on 10 years of work in that field. As Bursar, he is responsible for the over-all financial program of the school and the fiscal structure that includes a broad range of services to the student body. It is this dual expertise in education and finance that Najjar feels will stand him in good stead during his service on the school committee.

Najjar is an alumnus of the same school he now serves. He holds a Bachelor of Science and Master's Degree in Business Administration. Presently, he also does part-time teaching

His duties also include operational and personnel functions in a decision-making role and interpretation of policy as it pertains to financial matters.

Maintenance of the University's accounting system comes within his jurisdiction, requiring a continual review of existing systems and the introduction of new progressive programs, many of which have been innovated by him. He has the major responsibility for Northeastern's administrative computer.

County Budget To Be Reduced 18%

There was good news for the taxpayers of the 34 communities of Essex County today when it was announced that an unexpected development will result in a reduction of 18% in the current Essex County budget for the fiscal year which ends June 30.

For the first time in three years the State Director of Accounts has allowed the County Commissioners to utilize free cash amounting to $1,968,813.97.

This means that the county budget for the fiscal year 1975-76, ending June 30, which had been expected to total $10,849,456.8 will actually total $8,880,642.51, a reduction of 18% over the 1974-75 fiscal year assessment on the 34 cities and towns.

This will be reflected in the second of two county assessments which will be mailed to the communities in May.

The overall savings to each city and town will depend on the percentage of the county budget each is assessed, but in all of the 34 communities the drastic cut in the county assessment will mean additional free cash for Mayors and Selectmen.

The free cash accumulates from receipts to the county government and unexpended county funds.

The unexpected windfall results in economies practiced by the Essex County Commissioners, members of the Essex County Advisory Board but chiefly through the legislation which allows the application of the $1,968,813.97 in free cash to the current fiscal year budget.

Emergency Medical Care Awareness Night Tuesday

The Massachusetts Ambulance Law of 1973 has totally changed emergency care in the state and is bringing Massachusetts into the 70's with regard to life-saving techniques.

Three members of the Office of Emergency Medical Services (OEMS), the Massachusetts Health Dept. division responsible for the planning, coordinating, and implementing of emergency care, will be in Andover next Tuesday, Feb. 24, at 7:30 p.m.

They will be at West Elementary School Auditorium to join in a panel discussion with Deputy Chief William Downs, Andover Fire Department, Lt. Raymond Collins, Andover Police Department, Joyce Constantineau, head nurse, Bon Secours Hospital Emergency Room and Dr. Jose Silva, director of emergency services at Lawrence General Hospital. John Burch, program associate, N.E. Mass. Chapter, American Heart Association and Kim Fisk, executive director, Andover Chapter, American Red Cross, will be in attendance to answer questions about the function of their organizations in the re-education process. A 15 minute overview of Merrimack Valley emergency facilities will be given by Patricia Buckley, regional director, EMS. A film, "I Love You, Frank" will also be part of the 2½ hour program.

Called Emergency Medical Care Awareness Night, the evening's program is sponsored by Andover Community Schools - Recreation Department and Andover League of Women Voters, and is an attempt to inform Andover and other Greater Lawrence area residents of the changes in the direction of current emergency care.

Before nationwide attention was focused on this issue by Federal Law in 1973, ambulance service consisted of the sometimes-speedy transporting of an accident or ill patient to a hospital which may or may not have been able to care for him adequately. Taking a cue from the successful on-site treatment given servicemen in Vietnam by well-trained paramedics, national emergency specialists began demanding the same care for civilians involved in accidents and unexpected serious illnesses. The thrust of this movement had to be three-fold: to 1) improve training for ambulance personnel, 2) update emergency vehicles, and 3) coordinate hospital emergency facilities so that each would be put to its optimum use.

The Massachusetts EMS office in its three years of existence has brought Massachusetts into a nationally prominent position of leadership in the emergency health care field.

Andover guests next Tuesday night are Ms. Patricia Clair and Ms. Patricia Murchie, program managers for regional development and Austin C. Buchanan, chief of training, Emergency Medical Technicians (EMT's). They have been with OEMS since its inception in 1973 and are knowledgeable about all phases of the state program. Each is eager for Massachusetts residents to know what the law means to them in terms of improved care and that they have the knowledge to insure quality care in their own cities and towns.

Rev. John A. Coughlan, Ph.D., executive vice president of Merrimack College, has elected the third president twenty nine year history of Merrimack College.

According to an announcement by Rev. Edward L. O'S.A., chairman of Merrimack College Board of Trustees, Father Coughlan has been named president-elect and will assume the presidency of the North college on June 1, 1976. Coughlan had been named executive vice president of Merrimack College in 1975. Prior to that appointment he had been dean of the college and vice president for academic affairs at Merrimack since 1968. Following Father Coughlan's announcement, he stated that he will meet with the Merrimack College community in the near future.

Merrimack College was founded in 1947 by the late Cardinal Cushing and Augustinian Fathers. Rev. Vincent A. McQuade, O.S.A., Ph.D., was the first president from 1947 when he was succeeded by John R. Aherne, O.S.A. Father Aherne has served as the college's second president from 1963 until his August, 1975, announcement of his resignation effective June 30, 1975.

Under the leadership of McQuade and Father Aherne, Merrimack has grown from a college of 165 students in 1947 to a college of 1891 in Sept., 1975.

A native of Silver Spring, Maryland, Father Coughlan is a 1947 graduate of Gonzaga School in Washington, D.C. In 1949 he attended the University of Maryland and entered the Augustinian Order in 1951.

The 46 year old Augustinian received his A.B. in Philosophy from Villanova University and continued his studies at Augustinian College in Washington, D.C. where he was ordained in 1955. From 1963, he served as a teacher of philosophy at the college.

Andover Community Schools will present Aristophanes' comedy, Lysistrata, on Feb. 6, 12 and 13 at West Elementary School at 8:30 p.m. The play, written between 412 and 404 B.C., unambiguously belies the notion that the Greeks were stuffy.

Lysistrata is indeed a comedy. It was written with serious intent. In the fifth century B.C., Athens and Sparta were engaged in a war which threatened to destroy the Greek states. Aristophanes wrote Lysistrata to use laughter and absurdity to shock a man back into his sanity and end the purposeless war. The attempt was in vain as seven years later the golden age of Greece was over.

The translation which was written by Dudley Fitts, an instructor at Phillips Academy for 15 years and one of the leading Greek scholars in this country, is the translation which was used for the Broadway production of Lysistrata in the early 1960s.

Elected Third President Of Merrimack College

Rev. John A. Coughlan, O.S.A., Ph.D., executive vice president of Merrimack College, has been elected the third president in the twenty nine year history of Merrimack College.

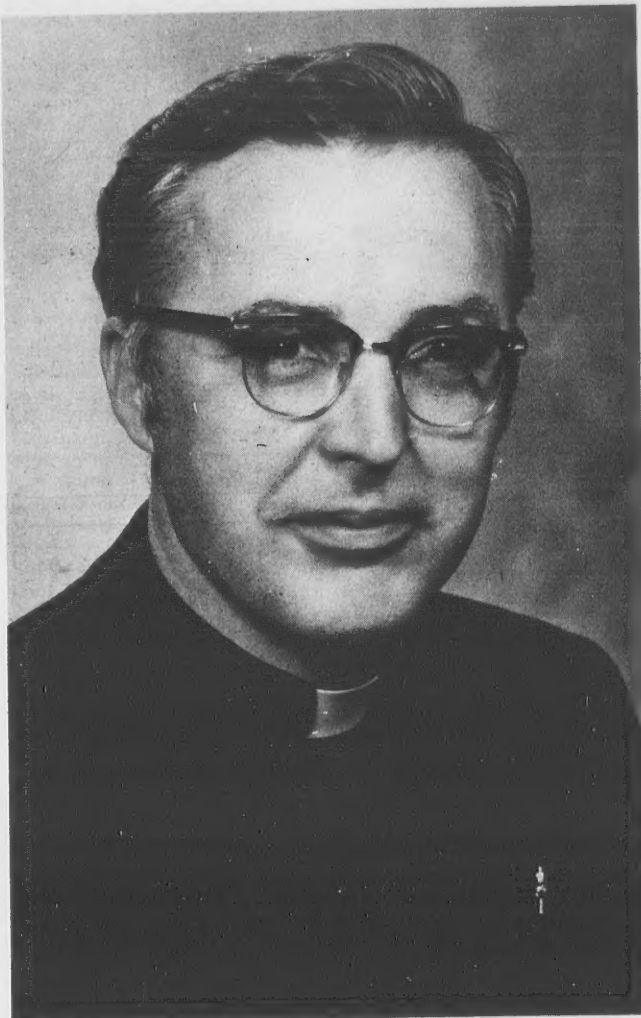

According to an announcement by Rev. Edward L. Daley, O.S.A., chairman of the Merrimack College Board of Trustees, Father Coughlan has been named president-designate and will assume the office of president of the North Andover college on June 1, 1976. Father Coughlan had been named executive vice president of Merrimack College on Aug. 7, 1975. Prior to that appointment, he had been dean of the college and vice president for academic affairs at Merrimack since Aug., 1968. Following Father Daley's announcement, Father Coughlan stated that he will meet with the Merrimack College community in the near future.

Merrimack College was founded in 1947 by the late Richard Cardinal Cushing and the Augustinian Fathers. The late Rev. Vincent A. McQuade, O.S.A., Ph.D., was the college's first president from 1947 to 1968 when he was succeeded by Rev. John R. Aherne, O.S.A., Litt.D. Father Aherne has served as the college's second president from 1968 until his August, 1975 announcement of his resignation as president effective June 1, 1976.

Under the leadership of Father McQuade and Father Aherne, Merrimack has grown from a college of 165 students in Sept., 1947 to a college of 1891 students in Sept., 1975.

A native of Silver Spring, Maryland, Father Coughlan is a 1947 graduate of Gonzaga High School in Washington, D.C. From 1947-49 he attended the University of Maryland and entered the Augustinian Order in 1950.

The 46 year old Augustinian received his A.B. in Philosophy from Villanova University in 1952 and continued his theological studies at Augustinian College in Washington, D.C. where he was ordained in 1955. From 1956 to 1963, he served as a teacher of

Rev. John A. Coughlan, O.S.A.

Mathematics and Economics and as Social Studies Director at Archbishop Carroll High School in Washington, D.C.

During this period, Father Coughlan also pursued graduate studies in Economics at the Catholic University of America. He was awarded the M.A. degree in Economics in 1958 and the Ph.D. degree in Economics from Catholic University in 1965.

In 1964, Father Coughlan was appointed to the faculty of Villanova University where he served as Chairman of the Economics Department, and was active in university administration and curriculum. He was named dean of the college and vice president for academic affairs at Merrimack College in Aug., 1968.

Father Coughlan was elected to a four-year term as a member of the board of trustees of Villanova University in October, 1973. From 1971 to 1975 he was a provincial councilor for the Augustinian Province of St. Thomas of Villanova. He was also a member of the board of trustees of Austin Preparatory School in Reading, from 1970 to 1973.

A member of Pi Gamma Mu, the national social science honorary fraternity, Father Coughlan is a member of the American Conference of Academic Deans and the American Economic Association. He is also listed in "Who's Who in America".

Andover Community Theatre will present Aristophanes' bawdy comedy, Lysistrata, on March 5, 6, 12 and 13 at West Elementary School at 8:30 p.m. This riotous "war between the sexes", written in 412 B.C., unequivocally belies the notion that the classics are stuffy.

Lysistrata is indeed ribald, yet it was written with deadly serious intent. In the late fifth century B.C., Athens and Sparta were engaged in a war which threatened to destroy both city-states. Aristophanes tried in Lysistrata to use laughter, to use absurdity, to shock a measure of sanity back into his world and to end the purposeless war. His attempt was in vain and within seven years the golden age of Greece was over.

The translation which ACT is using was written by the late Dudley Fitts, an instructor at Phillips Academy for many years and one of the country's leading Greek scholars. It was this translation which was used for the Broadway production of Lysistrata in the early '60s.

Lysistrata is being directed by Peg Ireland who has won regional and national awards in community theatre competition. The cast features Susan Lenoe, Rick Cannon, Elaine Ciampa, Paul Hart, Enid Summers, Doreen Tronerude, Elizabeth Zeoli, Mike Roy, Bryan Goodman, Rachel Graber, Paul McEvoy, Bea Chadwick, and Ron Simonian.

The show is being produced by Ruth Foden, the assistant director is Joan Roy and the stage manager is Julie Pike. They will be assisted by a production staff which includes Paul Chadwick, Debbie Brown, Connie Fogg, Paul Hodson, Betty Baumann, Steve Zeoli, Tim Doran, Millie Sousa, Nona Winnick, and Pat Doran.

Officials Advised To Plan

The Massachusetts League of Cities and Towns is urging local officials to begin planning now for the use of major federal funds that would result from the probable passage of the counter-cyclical funding bill.

The bill, which is now on the President's desk, is expected to be vetoed, but the vote by which it passed both Houses of Congress was large enough to warrant optimism for an override vote if the President does turn thumbs down. Counter-cyclical funding would provide 100% funding for local capital improvement projects which can begin construction within 90 days after the project is approved, in areas with above average unemployment rates. (Previous state unemployment figures indicate that all Massachusetts communities will be eligible.)

Many community development capital improvements, including those which were ineligible under other federal programs, could be funded under this bill. Such projects, the League is informing local officials across the state, include construction, renovation or additions to municipal offices, schools, libraries, police stations, etc.

Local governments are being warned, however, that upcoming town meetings will have to consider preliminary planning funds which must be included immediately in budget and warrant articles, since the major proviso of the bill is that any project accepted for funding must be able to begin construction within the 90-day specified period.

The bill is designed to take the edge off unemployment rates by providing funding for local projects when the unemployment rate rises over 6%. Estimates of the amounts that

Junior Class To Conduct Fund Drive

Members of the Junior Class of Andover High will conduct its annual magazine fund drive during the weeks of Feb. 24 through March 2. Students will be properly identified with buttons and blue ribbons that identify them as AHS students.

Many popular as well as educational magazines will be offered for sale. Also renewals of magazines will be accepted. Miss Samira and Mr. Grasso, class advisors, hope the students will raise enough funds for class activities, the most costly being that of the Junior Prom.

The class officers in charge of this project are: president, Teresa Iannazzi, vice president, Sherri Cantwell, and secretary treasurer, Jody Vignola. If there are any questions regarding the drive, contact any of the above officers through the High School.

would become available to local governments under the bill reach as high as $2.5 billion over the 18-month life of the program.

One of the provisions of the bill would allow grants to be made for the completion of plans if they are uncompleted at the time of application for the program. The League is urging that local communities review any projects for which plans have already been drawn but which have been turned down for other federal grant programs and that they consider allocation of engineering funds at upcoming town meetings to begin planning for needed capital improvement projects.

Salary Hikes Could Be 10%

Andover teachers will be receiving raises of about 10 percent, far more in reality than the 6.25 figure they accepted last Friday.

School Chairman Frank Griggs said at last week's meeting, attended by some 500 teachers and taxpayers, that track and step increases add another four percent to the across the board hike.

Teachers go up a step simply by virtue of another year's experience. They advance a track by adding to their education as well. The tracks include Bachelor's, Bachelor's +30 (30 hours), Master's, Master's +30, Master's +60, and Doctor's.

Griggs said the teachers' salaries have been increasing at 10 percent a year for some time.

The average increase over the past three years, according to a printed schedule, has been 27.6 percent, or an average in dollars of $2848.

Some 40 teachers have received increases of more than 35 percent over the past three years.

On last year's salary schedule (1974-1975), a first year teacher with a bachelor's degree received $8,555, while this year, at Bachelors Step 2 with a 6.25 percent increase, he will receive $9,360 and next year, at Bachelor's Step 3 with a 7.75 percent raise, he will receive $10,374. That's a total two-year increase of more than 21 percent.

The beginner for the current 1976-76 school year will now receive $9098 and next year's beginner, $9794.

At the upper end of the scale, a Master's +60 teacher, at Step 11 (11 years' service), received $14,456 in 1974-75. This year, at Master's +60, he will receive $16,643, and next year, at Step 13, $19,347. His two-year increase will be some 28 percent.

Teachers

When negotiations broke down in the late fall, an independent factfinder was called in. It was David Bloodsworth's report last month that recommended the 7.5 percent increases.

The school committee rejected the report, countering with an offer of six percent this year and seven percent next year. An AEA membership vote accepted the report, but also set the date for the strike vote and began their work stoppages.

The committee agreed to go back to the table if the teachers ceased the stoppages, and came up with their 6.25 - 7.5 percent offer. They also called in the labor board.

At last week's school committee meeting in the East Junior High Auditorium, Griggs said the labor board had been called in to look into the work stoppage. If the teachers were breaking the law, he said, they should be called to task.

Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert agreed that there is a very serious question of actively taking politics into the classroom. He also said he thought even the question of a strike vote in Andover would have longterm effects inside the schools in teacher-to-teacher relationships, as well as in school committee-to-teacher dealings.

"Everytime there is a source of dissatisfaction," he said, "there will be those who say, see we should have struck."

While Ahouse said a "majority" vote of the committee agreed to the settlement, Griggs last week said he had stuck to the six-six offer all along.

"I went to six-six as the upper limit to settle and that was it," he said. "It didn't work."

Seifert added this week that there were "no good guys or bad guys" in the contract dispute.

"In this town," he said, "we need to learn to deal with differences of opinion instead of considering everything either right or wrong."

"This right and wrong business," he went on, "causes tremendous negative impact on the running of the schools."

Seifert said that after the contract is actually signed, he will be making recommendations on improving communications in the future, between the committee, the teachers and the public.

Everyone is involved, he said, so everyone should be better informed.

He feels that this experience will facilitate communication between the elected school committee, the teachers of Andover and the community at large, thereby helping avoid tense confrontations during periods of future negotiations.

Cooper Overcoming Tall Odds

THE TOWNSMAN, FEBRUARY 19, 1976

How many 6-4 centers are there in college basketball today, and how many of them can say they've performed admirably against some of the nation's most talented big men?

Carnell Cooper can.

Battling against seemingly difficult odds has become a habit for Cooper, a 6-4 Yale junior. A native of rural Dillon, S.C., Carnell attended segregated schools there through the ninth grade. At the suggestion of his junior high school guidance counselor, Cooper decided to attend Andover High School under the auspices of the ABC (A Better Chance) program in the town of Andover.

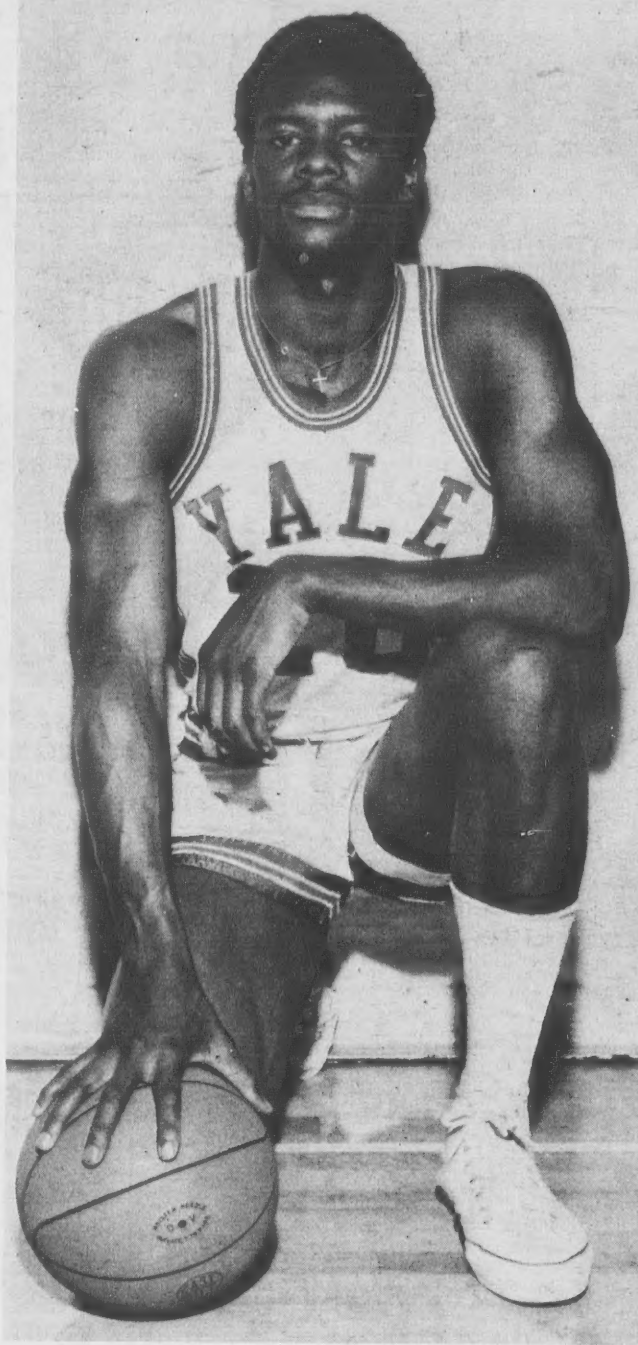

"At first I was afraid of the ABC opportunity. I decided to pursue it, because I wanted a good education and the overall challenge the program would bring," Carnell says.

Cooper excelled at Andover as an honor student and athlete. He starred on three conference championship basketball teams and was named to the All-State team, after averaging 20 points and 16 rebounds for his senior season. Carnell showed his athletic versatility by winning the state championship in the 220-yard dash and anchoring a state championship 880 relay team.

Naturally, Cooper was recruited by a number of colleges. Ironically, one of them was the University of Pennsylvania, and the recruiter was the current Yale coach, Ray Carazo, then an assistant at Pennsylvania. Carnell chose Yale, with athletics a secondary consideration in his mind. "I wanted a combination of an excellent university and a fairly urban school. I wanted to get into a city environment where my education would come first and I could do some community work," says Cooper.

"Coop" found Yale to his liking, and his freshman year performance on the basketball court was one indication. He led the Bulldogs to an impressive 13-4 campaign and paced the freshman team in scoring (15.2) and rebounding (13.6). For his efforts he received the John C. Cobb Memorial Award as the team's Most Valuable Player.

The story of Cooper's sophomore year was one of inconsistency. Although he displayed outstanding potential, the 6-4 leaper was not able to establish any real continuity to his game. He was shuffled in and out of the starting lineup and performed best as a sixth man. In truth, Carnell never got untracked. "I was nervous out there as a sophomore. Very often I went with things that I wasn't sure of and played outside my abilities. I've learned not to do that this year," he says.

Indeed, Cooper has been a very pleasant surprise for the Elis this season. He has overcome many of his erratic tendencies and has found a home, not on the bench, but as a starter. "Carnell has done it all for us this year. He's been our most consistent performer. I've been really pleased with his rebounding. Inch for inch, I consider Coop the best rebounder in the Ivy League," Carazo says.

Cooper's play has shown that Carazo's praise is not faint. Though 6-4, Carnell plays like a man 6-7 or 6-8. He leads the Elis in rebounding average (8.3) and has paced the team in that department in 17 of 22 games thus far. Cooper is third on the team in scoring with a 9.7 average, but even more significant is his .543 field goal percentage, one of the best in New England.

His top performances have come against some of the Elis' stiffest competition. Against a towering Boston College front line Cooper pulled down a season-high 14 rebounds. Against

St. Robert's Holds To Slim Lead

By Rick Harrison

St. Robert's clung to its slim one game advantage in the Senior Division of the Andover Church Basketball League, belting Ballardvale United 47-28 last week at the West Junior High.

In other games, second-place St. Augustine B kept nipping at the leader's heels following a 40-27 conquest of St. Augustine A, and Free Church got back on the winning track by tripping South Church, 33-17.

St. Robert's thus headed into this week's February school vacation layoff with an 8-1 overall ledger, while St. Augustine B stands at 7-2 and third place St. Augustine A has dropped well behind at 5-4.

St. Robert's, 47-28

There was never any doubt about this decision, as St. Robert's outscored Ballardvale in every quarter enroute to its eighth straight victory after a one point loss in the season's opener.

Divisional scoring leader John McNamara (117 points) flipped in eight markers in the opening period, sparking St. Robert's to an 11-4 lead.

McNamara added six more in the second quarter, while Steve Leitch and Brian Rockwell tossed in four apiece, propelling the winners to a 25-11 halftime bulge.

Jeff Roy popped through six third stanza points for BU, but Rich Marciano keyed the answering fire as St. Robert's upped the spread to 34-18.

Five points from Leitch and four by Scott Praetz highlighted a 13-10 St. Robert's run in the last seven minute session.

Lefty John McNamara again emerged as game high, hitting double figures for the ninth consecutive game with 16 points.

Steve Leitch finished with 11, Rich Marciano had 8, Scott Praetz 4, Brian Rockwell 4, Frank Branco 2 and Dan Saunders 2 points.

United, its modest one-game win streak a thing of the past, was led by Jeff Roy with 13 points. Jay McLeod, Betty Darling and Bob Heidt caged 4 points each. Dave Livingston had 2 and Carolyn Darling delivered a third quarter free throw.

Scott Mattheson and Kevin Hollenbeck contributed fine floor games for BU.

Bantams Score Big In Canada Warmup

By Rick Harrison

The Andover Bantam A traveling hockey team, currently in Ontario preparing for its third game against Oshawa, warmed up for the Canadian trip by registering 19 goals in two games last week enroute to lopsided victories over Assabet Valley (9-2) and Hanover, N.H. (10-1).

The convincing twin triumphs snapped a four-game winless streak for Coach Dick Neal's sextet, which departed for the northland with a 6-8-2 overall record.

A third contest scheduled with Lynnfield was postponed because of ice problems at the Beverly Arena.

Assabet Falls, 9-2

Red-hot Wayne Merola pumped in his first three-goal "hat trick", while first-line wingers Joe Cammarata and Len Driscoll added two red-lighters apiece, powering to a season's sweep over Assabet Valley.

The locals nipped Assabet 4-3 in their first meeting at Phillips Academy.

This game was in doubt for about one minute, because Andover leapt to a 2-0 lead before the tilt was 60 seconds old.

Cammarata opened the scoring at 0:24, capping a fine passing play with linemates Paul Farnham and Len Driscoll by tapping home a short forehand shot.

John Sagaser doubled the advantage at 0:59, taking a pass from Steve Morin and moving to within 10 feet before blasting the puck home.

Wayne Merola began his personal barrage at 2:08, stuffing home the rebound of rookie linemate Ken Southworth's shot.

Assabet picked up its first penalty of the game at 8:04, and nine seconds into the powerplay Driscoll boosted the cushion to 4-0.

Cammarata carried down the left boards and fed Driscoll cutting in front from the right side for a tip-in.

Assabet hit the scoreboard with a shorthanded goal against Dave Cullinan at 11:50 of the first session. It was a breakaway score, aided and abetted by an Andover defenseman Phil Weeks at the point, and Cammarata deflected in Phil's long slapshot.

It was Farnham's turn at 10:25, as he cradled a Cammarata pass and broke up through the middle for the goal.

Assabet closed to 6-2 a mere 26 seconds later, when a 12-foot shot skipped past relief goaltender Todd Bateson.

Wayne Merola needed just 18 seconds of the third period to produce from a goalmouth scramble, assists to 13-year-old rookie linemates Bruce Belbin and Ken Southworth.

Merola then completed his hat trick at 10:26, sweeping the puck past the Assabet netminder while being dragged down five feet from the cage. Southworth chalked up his third assist of the evening.

Len Driscoll wrapped up the offense at 11:52, driving home a crisp 10-footer with the lone assist to Paul Farnham.

Dave Cullinan and Todd Bateson split the goaltending chores equally, both surrendering one goal.

Hanover Stumbles, 10-1

Andover also swept its two-game season's series against Hanover, N.H., proving to be a rude host at Phillips Academy the night before departure for Canada.

The 10 goals matched Andover's top output of the campaign, which also came against Hanover in a wild 10-3 romp January 18 at Dartmouth College.

John Sagaser, Wayne Merola and Len Driscoll sparked the assault in this game with a pair of goals each.

Sagaser broke the scoreless tie at 5:32 of the first frame with an unassisted tally, intercepting a clearing pass at the right boards and moving in to fire a 15-footer through the goalie's pads.

JoJo Cammarata jumped the spread to 2-0 at 9:08, trading passes with Paul Farnham prior to tucking home his tenth seasonal lamplighter.

Wayne Merola continued his scoring exploits at 1:51 of the middle period, intercepting a pass 10 feet out front and firing in a quick forehand shot unassisted.

The score froze at 3-0 for the remainder of the stanza, and then in the third period Andover unloaded the heavy artillery to drill home a one-period season-high of seven goals.

John Sagaser opened the floodgates from close range at 2:23, as Mike Anderson and Steve Morin assisted on John's eighth marker.

Len Driscoll jacked the lead to 5-0 a scant 13 seconds later, punching the disc through the goalie's pads from 10 feet out with assists to Cammarata and Farnham.

Wayne Merola netted his fifth goal in two games and tenth of the season at 5:07, with the lone assist going to rookie wing Joe Cahill.

Funds For Special Reading Program Due To Be Funded

Some 300 youngsters from four public schools and St. Augustine's will soon be getting special reading attention through a new Title I program. The $42,708 in funds is expected to be forthcoming shortly, to be used for salaries for teachers, aides and clerks, for the remainder of this school year.

Meeting the Title I guidelines as "target schools" are Doherty, Shawshen, West and South Elementaries, and St. Augustine's.

A needs assessment turned up reading as the number one unmet priority in all schools, and students in those schools who scored at or below the 40th percentile on the ETS Tests, are eligible for the services.

The youngsters with the lowest scores in grades two to six will be taken first, meeting in small groups of four to 10 for approximately an hour each day.

Public school youngsters will be instructed in the appropriate area and level of Andover's Individualized Reading System, while the parochial school children will be taught by aides under St. Augustine's teachers, using their school's reading program and the Spaulding Phonics Program.

Of the 300 youngsters to be served, 257 are from the four public schools and 43, from St. Augustine's.

Voke Budget

(Continued from Page One) for security guards, which the FinCom feels can be eliminated. They point out that the school is occupied from early morning through late night with classroom and other activities.

Better utilization of custodial help on a third shift, to perform maintenance work as well as guarding the property could well eliminate the need for security forces, the FinCom points out.

Another budget item which the Andover group objects to strenuously, is the provision for a 10.5 salary increase for teachers at the school.

The budget items are in the total budget presentation of the regional school which serves North Andover, Lawrence and Methuen, along with Andover.

While the figures examined by FinCom members, are total budget items, any savings which can be realized will be apportioned among the participating communities.

Joining in the Andover objections are members of the Advisory Board of North Andover.

Last year, FinCom Chairman DeLoach explained to a meeting that the Andover FinCom was aware that the regional school committee was autonomous in its financing procedures, similar to local school committees.

But, the chairman explained, he felt FinCom would be derelict in its duties if it did not advise the town about concerns over the budget and particularly that there is no advisory group to review and examine budgetary requests.

A community could be ordered by the court to restore budget cuts and pay court costs and fines, similar to what would happen if town meeting cut the school department budget.

Fred S. Tarbox, Andover representative to the Voke school board addressed the town meeting asking that the suggested reduction now be approved, following which the FinCom chairman withdrew the motion to reduce Andover's assessment.

This year, the FinCom intends to continue to seek budget reductions in the Voke school financial requirements, and indications are that North Andover Advisory Board members are also intent to curb the spending by the regional committee.

dimension and with others who look to Andover's future.

"I seek the office also because, in believing as firmly as I do in the Town Meeting - Board of Selectman - Town Manager system of government, I have some comprehension of, and sensitivity to what it takes to make the system work."

"I am committed by experience, by training and by ethic to a strong, enlightened and professional administration of Town government, but an administration which is always subject to the broad policy direction of the Town Meeting and the Board of Selectmen and at all times accountable to the chief elected officials of the Town - the Board of Selectmen."

"The principal problems facing Andover at the present time and for some time to come relate to growth and development. I believe that we as a Town possess the natural, financial and intellectual resources to be whatever kind of Town that we want to be. The challenge before us is how we use these resources to achieve the long- and short-range goals and objectives that we must develop and work towards consciously and as a community."

"I want to be part of this process. I believe that I can contribute to the process. Andover is my home."

The Rose Cottage at Chestnut and Central streets will be the scene of the dedication of a plaque on Sunday during Christ Church observance of the Bicentennial and reception to Bishop-elect John B. Christ Church Celebrates American Bicentennial

The Parish of Christ Church, Episcopal, is celebrating the American Bicentennial with a Cotillion on Saturday night, Feb. 21, and with special services and events on Sunday, Washington's Birthday, Feb. 22.

Sunday's highlights include a reception for The Rev. John B. Coburn, D.D., Bishop-elect, Diocese of Massachusetts, who will be celebrating Holy Communion at 8 a.m. and serving as preacher at both Morning Prayer services (9:30 and 10:30).

In keeping with the Colonial spirit of the occasion, Dr. Coburn will be using the 1662 Prayer Book at all services. The reception will take place in the Parish Hall at 5 p.m., following a Candlelight Chamber Concert by members of the Phillips Academy Chamber Music Group. The 4:30 concert will include works by Krebs, J.S. Bach, Palestrina, Handel and Telemann.

Washington's Birthday morning, at 9:10 a.m., a plaque will be dedicated at "Rose Cottage", 2 Chestnut St., first Rectory of Christ Church. It was from the steps of Rose Cottage that Lafayette addressed the town on his tour of New England in 1825.

At 9:20, a new flag pole will be dedicated in memory of William H. Case and Roger W. Eckfeldt, Jr. At the Christ Church forums (10:15 and 11:15), The Rev. Harold T. Handley will speak. Rev. Handley, Rector Emeritus of Church of Our Redeemer, Lexington, and chaplain to the Lexington Minutemen, is a noted Colonial historian.

The weekend celebration at Christ Church has been planned by a Bicentennial committee, Mrs. Robert H. Watkinson serving as chairman. For further information call Glebe House, 475-0629.

We the People . . . are local area residents in support of the candidacy of FRED HARRIS for PRESIDENT of the United States. The years of assassinations, Vietnam, Watergate and CIA/FBI revelations have led our country toward disillusionment and cynicism - it's time to change that direction:

- We believe that the course of our country should be based on ideals, principles and values.
- We believe that the critical social issues facing our country should be dealt with with originality and common sense.
- We believe that our country should be provided with the type of leadership that is open, frank and truthful.

We have an opportunity in 1976 to make this a people's government again - help us in our efforts to elect . . .

FRED HARRIS.

suspicious. I feel that their concerns about their activity in Andover is really unwarranted.

"They (Selectmen) have expressed concerns over portions of the open meeting law as written and they may or may not have a point. My experience in Andover is that their concern seems to be much ado about nothing.

"It reminds me of the saying, 'A fish wouldn't get caught if it kept its mouth shut.' Their expressed desire to meet in openness and their concerns about the open meeting law could well be accelerated by bringing this court action."

Eagle-Tribune Managing Editor Daniel Warner said: "We're bringing it because we believe the town's business belongs to the taxpayers and residents of Andover. They ought to have the opportunity to know every stage of the governmental process either by attending a meeting of the Board of Selectmen or by reading about it in the newspapers."

Warner added, "We also believe that laws on the books designed to give free access of information to people cannot be flaunted merely because some governmental officials disagreed with them.

"It's like me saying I don't agree with the speeding laws, so I'm going to drive as fast as I want. Traditionally, it's been the civic obligation of a free press to see that the public's business is conducted in public, and in filing this suit we're trying to fulfill that obligation."

Walker said Tuesday that the Andover St. site, along with three alternates proposed by the town, are currently in evaluation as to cost factors, location and service area, with a decision due "as rapidly as possible."

The postal service last fall made a purchase-sales agreement with Sidney P. White for property on Andover St., across from the Dairy Bar and American Power Devices plant.

Alternates to the site have been forwarded to the postal service, following objections by town officials to the initial location.

The alternates being considered are the expansion of the present post office site on Main St., the former Grants store in Shawheen Plaza and Purity Supreme on Park St., and another Park St. location.

Walker said that the departmental evaluation had not been completed as yet and that as soon as it is, the postal service will go back to the selectmen and talk to them before making a final decision on a new site.

The initial announcement of the selection of the Andover St. site included the placing of a distribution and processing center on the Andover St. site, continuing window service only at a Main St. location and closing of the present post office building.

Walker told the TOWNSMAN Tuesday that he expected a decision very soon.

Officials are attempting to weigh the relative merits of the various locations and the areas to be served, as well as all cost factors involved in the various sites.

School Visit Draws All Ages

Staff and children at South School held an Open House Wednesday, Feb. 4 at which approximately eighty mothers and fathers visited their children's classrooms and met with teachers for a question and answer session.

Parents were greeted at the door by volunteer mothers and given name tags. Their preschool children were lured to a special corner in the lobby stocked with toys and games from the kindergarten.

Roaming around the building, an alert eye could catch such scenes as a volunteer mother tending the preschoolers, children and parents sitting together absorbing a lesson, groups of parents sitting in a classroom and listening to teachers answer their questions, parents watching their children doing gymnastics during gym, parents observing while the teacher taught.

We'd Like To Help

Hopefully Agreement Will Result In Harmony

With the school committee and Andover Educators Association reaching agreement on a new contract this past week, hopefully there will be a return to harmonious relationships between both sides.

The negotiations, which extended over a year and a half before being resolved, no doubt resulted in some ill feeling between both groups along the way.

We are not at all sure that, quite possibly, the teachers' group was not merely interested in financial considerations in all this, but possibly in drawing attention to some morale problems as a result of recent decisions by the town's electorate in placing some members on the school committee.

Such tactics, if true, of course are unwarranted, since recourse should be reserved for the ballot box, rather than drawing public attention to a considered problem.

The effect of recent school actions, including the lengthy negotiation process, of course, is being reflected in the annual town election.

What once was a prestigious and much sought after local elective office is being avoided this year.

As of early this week, there were only four candidates for the school committee, an office which, in recent years, commanded much more attention.

Court proceedings and the collective bargaining process which must be endured by school committee members have apparently dulled the allure which once accompanied membership on Andover's school committee.

We trust that, from such problems which have beset the political climate around the school department in recent years, some lessons can be learned, the principal one being that one must be reasonable.

Persons of varying educational philosophies have been elected in recent years on the basis of their being either liberal, conservative, or moderate.

That they espouse a particular philosophy and work diligently for implementation of ideas based on such theories is well and good, but to be adamantly against listening to those of opposite view is, in essence, a violation of the democratic process.

When the school board and teachers reached an impasse, and a serious one a week ago, the situation stemmed from a stern attitude on both sides, as we see it, with no thought to reasonable compromise.

The compromise came only after Labor Relations Board officials stepped in and viewed the differences as petty and practically ordered a settlement.

Aside from the teacher-school board negotiations, we still find the attitude of suspicion surrounding the actions of the school committee on some issues, by members of the community.

Should problems result from the effort to get the traditional school program underway, regardless of the reasons, the advocates of change will insist that the administration was determined that it would not work.

These are examples of what we mean by the need for some attention to reasonable understanding among not only the elected and appointed school administration, but the general public as well.

We shall always have honest differences of opinion on issues involving education and educators.

But rather than the ranting, raving, and accusatory tactics of recent years, we would rather have some philosophical adherents with an open mind when such differences arise.

With the settling of the contract issues this past week, hopefully some harmony will be forthcoming and the teachers will return from vacation next Monday prepared to concentrate on education rather than concern for salary and work conditions.

And, with a municipal election on the horizon, we would further suggest that the candidates be viewed not so much for their philosophy, but by how well they can listen to the people they are elected to serve and weigh the merits despite firm, personal commitments.

Town House Topics

FinCom Members Specializing

Members of the Finance Committee are becoming specialists.

The membership has been divided up into subcommittees to examine specific departmental budget requests and money articles which have reference to the particular department.

Actually, the process is a continuing one, initiated a few years back, with the "specialists" reporting back to the full committee on their findings and recommendations when the budget comes under FinCom scrutiny.

Scheduled for discussion at the next FinCom meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at Memorial Hall Library is the recreation department budget and the special article calling for $930,000 to be bonded for conservation, open space and recreation.

FinCom will be meeting each Tuesday night henceforth in preparation for the presentation of its annual report prior to the annual town meeting in April.

Contract Ratified

The union representing the Department of Public Works employees has ratified the new contract agreed upon between the town and the union last week.

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin was notified Wednesday that the new contract had been signed which provides for a 6.5 percent salary increase retroactive to July 1, 1975 and a 7 percent increase effective July 1, 1976.

With contracts now settled between the DPW and the teachers, the town has new contract talks scheduled with the police and fire unions remaining on the collective bargaining agenda.

Portables - Yes Or No

One of the items on Tuesday night's school committee agenda will be a recommendation by the administration on portable classrooms as a possible solution to overcrowding in the secondary schools.

The administration has been less than enthusiastic about the use of "relocatables", as they call them, and a negative recommendation may well be forthcoming.

The committee will meet in open session at 7:30 p.m. in Stowe School.

Traditional Results

Also at Tuesday's session, the administration will report on the numbers of parents who indicated they would enroll their youngsters in traditional classrooms in September. The traditional surveys were due last Friday.

There will also be a report on secondary math, the first in a series of followups to a recent report on declining college board scores.

Voter Registration

Special sessions of the Board of Registrars of Voters continues next week to provide opportunity for those who wish to become eligible for participation in the annual town election.

The board will be in session at West Elementary School and Peabody House, Phillips Academy, Tuesday from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m.

On Saturday, Feb. 28, the board will be in session from 12 noon to 10 p.m. at the town house and throughout the day and up until 10 p.m.

WEEKLY SPECIAL

Rumor Has Ford Sending Nixon to China

by Jack Anderson
with Joe Spear

WASHINGTON — Official Washington is whispering about Richard Nixon again. The speculation in the backrooms is that President Ford will appoint his predecessor as our representative to China.

The White House won't admit officially that the idea is even being considered. But there are a few straws in the wind, which have stirred the whispers.

First, the post is open. The last representative, George Bush, resigned to take over the Central Intelligence Agency.

Second, Richard Nixon is the Chinese Communists' favorite American.

And third, the appointment would please the diehard Nixon supporters who now comprise the political base of the President's rival, Ronald Reagan.

The Chinese, meanwhile, have made extraordinary preparations for the Nixon visit. Our sources say the Chinese plane, which will pick up the Nixons, will be equipped with special medical supplies. These will include anti-coagulants in case Nixon's phlebitis flares up.

Nixon's expenses, incidentally, will be paid by the Chinese. But the taxpayers will be stuck with the salaries of the Secret Servicemen and other government officials in Nixon's retinue.

The most forlorn folks in Washington, meanwhile, are the Chinese Nationalist diplomats. According to protocol, they outrank the Chinese Communists — the Nationalists have an embassy in Washington, the Communists only a lowly diplomatic mission.

Yet U.S. officials have been courting the Chinese Communists and cold-shouldering the Chinese Nationalists. We have learned, for example, that the Nationalist Ambassador, Jimmy Shen, requested a White House briefing after President Ford returned from Peking. The request was turned down.

Then Ambassador Shen asked to see Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. Again, Shen was refused. The Nationalists had to settle for an Assistant Secretary of State, Philip Habib, who stopped off in Taipei to brief Premier Chiang Ching-Kuo.

Ambassador Shen has suffered similar misfortunes on the cocktail circuit. The two Chinas, of course, don't recognize each other. So Washington's famous hostesses are obliged to choose between them. The Chinese Communists are the rage these days, so Jimmy Shen is staying home nights.

Nuclear Teapot: The Nuclear Regulatory Commission is quietly investigating a new theory that has frightening implications. If the theory is correct, reactors could blow their lids like teapots. This would release deadly radiation into the atmosphere.

The theory is this: There is a slim but real possibility that the fuel in a nuclear power plant could melt down and come in contact with water. If this should ever happen, according to the theory, it could cause a steam explosion as powerful as the bomb that was dropped on Nagasaki.

It would blow the top off the power plant and produce an enormous cloud of radioactive waste. The danger, we emphasize, is remote. But many responsible scientists believe it is possible.

There are 60 reactors around the country that, theoretically, could blow like a teapot, and many more are under construction.

Incompetent Bureaucrats: An internal administration report has concluded that the bureaucrats at the Social Security Administration simply are incompetent.

"Overall quality or competence, dedication or motivation, and efficiency of the working staff," says the document, "are below appropriate levels."

The report acknowledges, for example, that the employees waste a lot of time. This causes delays and hardships for the aged and the disabled who depend upon their Social Security checks.

The bureaucrats also botch up the massive computer system. We have learned that it has made some monumental mistakes.

In a single day in August, 1975, for example, faulty instructions caused the computers to issue $10 million in overpayments to 1,500 very surprised recipients.

Cheap Veep?: There is a persistent rumor in Washington that Vice President Nelson Rockefeller is a "skinflint." The story is only partly true.

He has given away more than $2 million. You can't call that cheap. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, for example, received a $50,000 gift of appreciation from Rockefeller. Kissinger, at least, must think Rockefeller is generous. Rockefeller has also loaned more than $480,000 to friends and relatives.

It would be fair to say, however, that Rockefeller has no idea what money means to the average American. He rarely, if ever, carries cash or credit cards. His aides merely take care of his bills, so that Rockefeller doesn't have to trouble himself with such trivialities.

Rockefeller has listed his personal wealth at more than $33 million. Yet he often has to ask an aide for change to make a telephone call. He has also been known to question the size of tips that his aides leave behind in restaurants. Rockefeller has objected that even standard tips are too large.

Hunt's Hunt: E. Howard Hunt, the Watergate convict, has been writing letters from prison seeking an attorney. Hunt wants to sue Oui, the girlie magazine, for linking him to the John F. Kennedy assassination.

What Our Readers Say-

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN
I would like to express personal thanks to the dedicated teachers at Sanborn who have continued to demonstrate their concern for the children throughout these difficult times. As a parent volunteer at Sanborn, I have been very pleased to see true professionals continuing to give the individual attention that students need.

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN
We were pleased to read your editorial and article concerning the School Committee meeting which dealt with Chapter 622. The accurate reporting of the events and issues helped to clarify the real concern behind the law. Rather than the elimination of options, it is the intent of the law and the hope of the members of the Greater Lawrence Chapter of N.O.W. that all students experience the richest educational opportunities.

The Greater Lawrence N.O.W.
To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN
Flood Plain Insurance is again being reviewed and again being misunderstood. This time on two major counts:

This kind of insurance is to give protection from what is uncertain and improbable rather than what is certain and probable. Insurance against the latter is not generally available except at high cost; or over a long period of time such as is the case with life insurance.

But of more consequence is the opinion that somehow the danger from flooding in Andover can only come from overflow of existing river banks toward higher ground, as was the case in 1936, whereas real grief will come from the opposite direction: "Washing water and mud" from large amounts of water dumped on high ground then washing everything before it as it seeks man-made channels, such as existing paved highways, which may or may not lead to existing river beds.

This aspect of present day flooding can be understood by a brief review of what happened in Northeastern Pennsylvania in July of 1972. This entire area was heavily damaged. It came about due to several days of continuous rainfall topped by a heavy down-pour of 9 to 11 inches in less than 12 hours.

The weeklong steady rain soaked the top 10 to 15 inches of earth. It then had most of the characteristics of "jelly". The rapid addition of 8 to 11 inches of rain was sufficient to start the top foot of earth plus the rain itself on its way to lower ground without regard to where a river bed might be. In many cases paved roadways became channels. Overflow lashed out on either side. Many houses were pushed from their foundations. Cellars were filled level with the mud or "earth jelly".

At Corning, New York its famed Museum of Glass pieces which was protected on one side by a 30 foot high levee, so the waters of the Chemung River could not get to it, proved to be its undoing. The water and mud came at it from the other side, from the supposedly protective high ground. (But before the night was over, the river was coming over the levee also.)

Applying this lesson to Andover under such conditions of rain, lets start at the intersection of Phillips St. with South Main St. Water and mud would start down Phillips St. picking up speed and mud, then down Torr St. onto Central where it would meet a rising Shawsheen River. Homes along either side of the three streets mentioned would be pushed and battered by the mud flow.

It is clear, then, that this proposed insurance is not against flooding river water so much as it is for protection against what could happen given the present state of property and ground development in Andover. My home is on high ground with respect to the nearest river, but it is on low ground with respect to land to the rear of it. Under the condition stated, my home would be in danger of having the high ground to the rear being "flooded" into my kitchen, let alone the possibility of the entire house being pushed off its foundation. So, I'm hoping that my home will be in a flood zone so that it can be insured also.

Incidentally, it is remarkable that throughout this flooded area of Pennsylvania, the Federal Interstate Highways System came through with less than one tenth of one percent damage, it being designed to sustain the so called "50 year flood". Nor did the rights-of-way hold back any water so as to cause local flooding, correct drainage having been designed into the new construction.

And lastly, it seems clear that any property that can be insured for such disasters as fire, flood, tornado and other like things is worth more than property that has no such insurance available except at extra high rates.

port of women's rights.

This is the first time the exhibit has been shown outside the City of Boston. WOMEN begins in the early days of the Massachusetts Bay Colony and spans the active roles of 18th century women, highlights the formation of the first New England Female Medical College, orphanages, agencies of relief and refuge, female seminaries, the opening of the first kindergarten and stresses women's roles in the defense of their country in two world wars.

Open to the public at no cost, the thirty minute narrated slide show with accompanying graphic panels is jointly sponsored in Andover by the Bicentennial Committee, the Greater Lawrence Chapter of the National Organization for Women and Memorial Hall Library.

Doherty Students At Workshop

Six children from Doherty School had an exciting day recently when they went to Lesley College for a day-long writing workshop, as recorded in the following account by Karen Jo Giammusso, one of the students:

"All sorts of writing was taught at this Creative Workshop. When each group of school kids and teachers came, they were brought into a room where the kids got tags with their names and classes on them. The students were elementary students from all over New England. We were then separated into various classes according to grade level, while the teachers who brought us attended lectures in the back building. Some classes we went to were Autobiography, Learning How to Write TV Scripts, Fiction Writing, Puppet Making and many more. Lunch was provided. After lunch, classes were mostly just discussing writing. A booklet is going to be made containing some of everyone's writing. I had a great day, and I'm sure everyone else who went did, too!"

Those who went were: from Grade 6, Karen Jo Giammusso and Philip Travis; from Grade 4, Cathy Merrill and Janis Sander-son, and from Grade 2, Robert Hoyt and Kara Moloney accompanied by their teachers, Maureen Mangiaglia and Bonnie Guerin.

Excepting therefrom such part of said premises as was taken for the relocation of said Haverhill Street, by taking dated August 21, 1925, recorded with the North District of Essex Registry of Deeds, Book 515, Page 255.

This conveyance is made subject to a right of way by the Town of Andover for sewerage purposes more particularly described in a deed recorded in the North District of

Getting It Spotless

Billy Tynan of Andover Gulf makes sure this $60,000 Rolls Royce is spotless during a thorough washing last Friday. Supervising the laundering job is Jed Hanley, a Connecticut resident, owner of the vehicle which took two years to custom build.

More Negotiating On Horizon

The school committee may breathe a sigh of relief over the teacher's contract, but they're not out of the woods on salaries yet.

The committee has yet to come to terms with administrators, nurses, custodial - maintenance personnel and cafeteria workers.

They have settled with the aides and clerical workers.

In fact, the committee must start all over again with the administrators, who voted last Thursday 16-3 to leave "Unit B" of the Andover Education Association for the Teamsters Union.

The administrators, who include principals, assistant principals, and certain other supervisors (not the superintendent or associate superintendent or business office staff), will now be represented by Local 380 of the United Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers.

Officers for the time being are Jack Coyle, Bancroft principal, chairman; Richard Swift, physical education program advisor, vice-chairman; Pamela Kvilekval, pupil personnel administrator, secretary.

Unit A, or the teachers, account for some $5,325,000 of this year's total school salary budget of $7,127,000. That leaves approximately $1.8 million for the rest.
